I seem to bear In Autumns funeral train. 106 THE GOLDEN HAND. Lo, from the citys heat and dust A Golden Hand forever thrust, Uplifting from a spire on high A shining finger in the sky! I see it when the morning brings Fresh tides of life to living things, And the great world awakes: behold, That lifted Hand in morning gold! I see it when the noontide beats Pulses of fire in busy streets; The dust flies in the flaming air: Above, that quiet Hand is there. I see it when the twilight clings To the dark earth with hovering wings Flashing with the last fluttering ray, That Golden Hand remembers day. THE GOLDEN HAND. The midnight comes--the holy hour; The city like a giant flower Sleeps full of dew: that Hand, in light Of moon and stars, how weirdly bright! Below, in many a noisy street Are toiling hands and striving feet; The weakest rise, the strongest fall: That equal Hand is over all. Below, in courts to guard the land, Gold buys the tongue and binds the hand Stealing in Gods great scales the gold, That awful Hand, above, behold! Below, the Sabbaths walk serene With the great dust of Days between; Preachers within their pulpits stand: See, over all, that heavenly Hand! But the hot dust, in crowded air Below, arises never there: O speech of one who cannot speak! O Sabbath-witness of the Week! THE GRAVE-ANGEL. In the moonlight,...
