Discovery Publishing House Pvt. Ltd., New Delhi, India, 2011. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. The UN Declaration on human rights has been fifty years old. A moment is needed to take Stock and to look at the deficits which still exist in terms of human rights half a century later. The declaration of 1948 contains a comprehensive list of political, economic, social and Cultural rights and aims at the protection of the freedom, equality, and human dignity of all human beings, irrespective of their race, gender, Language or religion. Never before in History had there been such a far-reaching and solemn undertaking to protect each and every individual from all forms of oppression and deprivation. Two treaties adopted by the UN General Assembly in 1966 translate the ideas of the Human Rights Declaration into binding international law, and a High Commissioner for Human Rights, an office created as a result of the UN Human Rights Conference in Vienna in 1993, has been put in charge of monitoring, the human rights situation and coordinate UN action on it. Numerous human rights NGOs all over the world, most important among them Amnesty International, have established themselves as additional watchdogs to guard against human rights violations. Contents, 1. All Human Rights for All 2. Human Rights-The Road to Progress and Peace 3. Speaking from A Position of Economic Strength-The Human Rights Debate and Asia 4.
